

Don't miss out on continuing your hospital indemnity insurance coverage

Keep the financial protection hospital Indemnity insurance offers without interruption, even if:

- Your employment has been terminated
- Your hours have been reduced

Hospital indemnity insurance coverages, issued by The Prudential Insurance Company of America (Prudential), can help provide a financial cushion for unexpected out-of-pocket<sup>1</sup> costs from hospital stays—in addition to what your medical plan pays.

You may be eligible for the same hospital indemnity insurance coverage at the same rate that was in place while you were with your employer. Apply for coverage within 30 days of your termination date or 15 days of the date of the letter in the package, whichever is greater.

➔ Start here

Once Prudential is notified of your termination or change in eligibility, you'll receive a package with:

Item	Action you may need to take
A letter explaining the application and approval process.	Review the letter.
Confirmation of the coverage you had at the time of your change in employment or eligibility (what products were carried, who was covered, and the coverage costs.)	Review your coverage. You can lower your coverage but can't add to it. For example: Employee and spouse with coverage can drop spouse coverage but cannot add coverage for children.
Continuation application The Continuation Form can also be downloaded at prudential.com/forms . Select the product link under "Voluntary Benefits."	Complete and mail this form to Prudential to apply for coverage continuation. Apply for coverage within 30 days from your date of termination or 15 days of the date of the letter, whichever is greater.
Electronic funds transfer form.	Complete and mail the form to set up an agreement to send your monthly premiums to Prudential via electronic funds transfer. Or you can mail Prudential a check every month or wire your payment.

What's next

- Prudential will confirm receipt of your application and/or your electronic funds transfer form within the time frame and determine your eligibility.
  - Each product has a requirement that the employee carried coverage for a specific amount of time. A standard eligibility requirement is usually 30 days before the termination date.
- Once Prudential determines your coverage eligibility, you're moved to an individual policy, from a group (employer) policy.
- You're billed directly, and premiums you already paid are applied.
